Western Bank Introduces No-Charge Checking Accounts

The Western Bank and Trust Company, with two offices in West Springfield, has introduced no-charge checking accounts. For the first time in Western Massachusetts — and exclusively at Western Bank — there will be no service charges made to personal checking account customers who maintain a $100.00 balance at all times, regardless of the number of checks used in a month.

Where a similar plan has been used in other parts of the country, checking account users have realized savings averaging $30.00 a year.

Mr. William A. Franks, Jr., President of Western Bank, said this new, no-charge plan, referred to as "West-checks," is available to anyone, anywhere, who opens a personal checking account and maintains a $100 balance. He said, "There are no strings, no ifs, ands, or buts." Personal checking account customers with a $100 balance at Western Bank currently will be automatically transferred to this plan. Mr. Franks suggested that anyone interested in further information or in opening a new account immediately call or stop by either office of the bank. All "West-check" transactions can be handled by mail.

Prepare UNICEF Collection Sign

Agawam girls, Sandra Sgorbati and Adela Demko pictured above prepare UNICEF sign for pick-up and collection station at 1822 Main St., home of Mr. and Mrs. James Sgorbati. UNICEF cartons may be obtained by organizations and individuals any day after 5 p. m.

There will be a "Mystery Lane Party" for UNICEF Trick or Treaters Halloween night when they return their cartons to this address, it was announced by Mrs. John Peterson, local chairman.

UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, is the agency of the United Nations concerned with the welfare of children and mothers throughout the world. It is currently assisting more than 500 projects in 118 countries and territories, and is financed on a purely voluntary basis.

As more than one UNICEF'er may call upon you, it is suggested that you set aside the amount you wish to contribute to UNICEF. By giving a portion to each caller, as you do with candy bars, none will be disappointed.

Your gift of $1 gives 100 children vaccinations against TB, and a gift of one cent gives 6 cups of milk to hungry children. Where else can so many people benefit from so little money!

Center Library Addition Information

A majority of the Agawam Board of Library Trustees hired David Carlson and Robert Hall as architect and consulting engineer to build a 42x26 addition to the Agawam Center Library for $45,000 plus 8.5% architect's fee, making a total of $50,000. Mr. Casella, the only other bidder, was rejected by a 5 to 1 vote of the board. His bid was $42,000 plus 8.5% for a total of less than $50,000. Only one board member voted for him.

The drawings of Mr. Carlson increased the original size bid by 3%. When the general contractor's bids were opened the following base bids and alternates were made:

Name	Base Bid	Alternates	Total
A. C. Lindgren, E. Longmeadow	$74,027	$6,191	$80,218
A. L. Phelps, Springfield	82,345	6,482	88,827
P. J. Kennedy	91,706	6,060	97,766

The alternates, the increased architect fee based upon the $24,027 increase, and the contingency fee, made the total of the lowest bid come to $91,038. The architect's explanation for this figure was the rising cost of labor and the "extras" asked. Because all the past months work will be thrown out and a fresh start made, it will be another 2 or 3 weeks before the sub-contract bids are ready.

The new addition is much simpler. It has no main floor work-room facility, is now 30x32, has electric heat instead of gas. The only thing left in is the booklift which the Board insisted upon for the sake of the staff and lessening the likelihood of the Town being sued because of injuries received when persons carried books from the basement up to the main reading room.

The ideal way of joining the addition had to be rejected for a much simpler method. The recovering of the floor in the old building to match the new had to be foregone. The present inside stairs will remain instead of covering them up and having more room for tables. Painting and repairing the masonry and steps in the old building will have to be included in the 1969 budget. Lighting will be taken out of this year.

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By BILL CHIBA

Among the full house of bowhunters at Moe and Maragret Eaton's Elmwood farm, West Fairlee, Vt., opening day of the bow season, were octogenarian, Leon Glidden, Doc Baldwin, Dave Blackburn and Bill Spear, all natives of Agawam.

The lack of deer in the fields during the evening hours bothered many of the bowhunters to no end. It meant that the archers would have to venture into woods and meet his foe on a basis that favored the whitetail. The deer were there alright, contrary to what had been said in the past, maybe not in the vast numbers that bowhunters are used to seeing in previous years, but enough to give the hunter palpitations if he had the patience to wait out the wily animal.

The weather was certainly a factor in the harvest of deer being at its all time low the first week of the bow season. The temperatures ranged in the 80's, and deer do not like to roam during the day under summer conditions. However, the group of bowhunters that organized and made concentrated drives of areas shackled deer out of their beds and arrows were loosed at running targets. The blind or tree stand hunter spent many hours to no avail for the deer would stop feeding before day break and not rise and roam till after dark.

The bowhunter always encounters some strange experience while in the woods and this year was no different. Joe Fuczyk, Easthampton, and boarder at Moe's found two likely apple trees loaded with fruit. He shook down a substantial number and retarded to a nearby pine tree and nestled in between the branches to wait the arrival of deer. After spending about an hour of constant vigil, he heard animals approaching, the farmers cows crowded around the trees and ate up all the apples on the ground.

Joe tells of another experience where he stalked out the left overs at a cider mill. A small deer approached the pile of squeezings and began feeding. After a while it began to walk around erratically, rear back on its hind legs and also run around in circles as if it was trying to catch its tail. The deer had become intoxicated from the ripe squeezings.

I had been up in my tree stand Friday morning for about two hours, when across from me on a hillside in the hardwoods, I could hear limbs and sticks being broken. The first thought was that other hunters were in the area and were making a blind. This stick busting and log thumping went on for about fifteen minutes. I disgustedly descended from the tree and quietly made my way across the small swamp to give the hunters I figured were there a piece of my mind. To my surprise and consternation, three white flags went up in front of me and there went the quarry that I had been patiently waiting all morning for. The deer were eating acorns and going into the tops of trees that had been left a few years before by lumbermen that had cut off the area. The deer were seeking the fruit and breaking off the large limbs in the process, which only goes to prove that deer make a lot of noise in the woods when they are feeding. If you learn to pick out the noises your chances of successfully downing one with the bow are greatly enhanced.

I will be back at Moe and Margaret's this weekend for a last try. I hope the weather is real cold and the deer are eating like there is no tomorrow.

The West Side Fish and Game Club turkey shoot winners Sunday at the club grounds off of Garden Street, Feeding Hills, consisted of many new faces.

Ice Capades To Feature 1968 Olympic Stars

Two of the most refreshing young stars of Ice Capades are two of the newest — Margot and Danne. They skated straight out of the 1968 Olympics in Grenoble, France, to a professional contract.

Margot and Danne were bronze medal winners at the Olympics. Wolfgang Danne is a towering skater, 6 foot 2 inches tall, strong and graceful, and is paired with Margot Glockshuber, only 18 but swiftly taking on a finesse that spells greatness. Danne's strength when teamed with Margot's diminutive size had to produce extraordinary results and it is extra exactly that with every show and every day practice.

Danne sends Margot soaring in high flights above the ice that might only mean disaster for a larger girl. They have been skating since Margot was barely past 14 and Danne was 22.

Danne was 18, an unusually advanced age, before he took skating seriously. Margot was 10. By some strange conspiracy of fate they didn't meet until shortly before 1965 when they went pair skating with each other for the first time at Garmisch.

They must hold some kind of a record for perfecting themselves as a team. By the winter of 1965 they won second place in the German Championships. Two years later they were the dominant skating couple of Germany and had moved to second place in the European Championships.

Both Margot and Danne spent much of the time riding horses in the unlikelyst of places, the high mountains trails of Garmisch.

Since coming to the United States they have become two of the hardest working members of the Ice Capades cast. The results of their efforts are clearly visible when you seen their exciting performance in America's No. 1 Family Show, Ice Capades, which opens at the Eastern States Coliseum, West Springfield, for just 10 nights and 8 matinees, starting Wednesday, November 13th.

Tickets are now available at the Coliseum Box Office, open daily from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., Monday through Saturday, or they may be secured via mail orders.

VWWI CARD PARTY WINNERS

The first card party in the new series started last Wednesday evening in the Agawam National Guard Armory sponsored by the Veterans of World War One. Door prize winners were Marion Damon, Robert Damon, Bill Duprey and Rosella Neilson.

Mystery prizes were awarded to Bill Duprey, Florence Panaretas and Walter Haggerty. Ladies ace prize winner was Mary McKay and Les Newcomb for the men.

The following received high score prizes: Ladies — 1st Mary McKay, 2nd Ruth Cusson, 3rd Philomena Blauvelt, 4th Mildred Cole; Men — 1st Louis Franchere, 2nd Les Newcomb, 3rd Walter Haggerty, 4th George Pierce.

The next card party will be held in the same place at same time and on Wednesday ... will look for you!

Alcoholic Beverage Ballot Question #5

Every two years the citizens of this Commonwealth are asked to express their opinions as to whether alcoholic beverages are to be allowed to be sold within their community. This November the question will be number five (5) on every ballot in each of the 351 cities and towns throughout the state.

Should we fail to vote on this issue, individual municipalities could revert to local prohibition. This could have significant impact on our community. License fees, which are substantial, would be lost to the treasury; jobs, both in the community and outside, would be lost, and citizens would be required to purchase the beverage of their choice from vendors in surrounding communities. Orderly government control of beverage licenses does, therefore, serve the community in many ways.

Obviously, those who fail to register an opinion on this fundamental issue will have no basis for complaint if their indifference helps to plunge their community back into a local or regional prohibition. Each of us should, therefore, locate Question 5 and carefully consider its four parts, each of which requires a "YES" vote to permit the sale of alcoholic beverages in the manner chosen by the community's electorate, with the assurance of orderly government control.

It wouldn't be a bad idea at that to put the designers of bathing suits in charge of cutting governmental budgets.

'First Chair Of America' Year Book Presented To Local Library

Copies of "First Chair of America," the honor year book for the nation's High School Bands are being presented to the Agawam Library. The books may also be seen at the High School Library and the Junior High School library.

The Agawam High Band is proud to be included in this year's edition which features outstanding bands from 37 states.

States with the largest representation this year are: Pennsylvania with 6 schools selected for recognition; Louisiana and Tennessee with 5 each; and Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and New Jersey with 4. The Agawam Band is the only one from Massachusetts in this year's book.

The Agawam pages include the picture of the complete band in addition to separate pictures of the Color Guard and the Majorettes. Several smaller pictures highlight the band's officers, squad leaders, librarians and District Band-Chorus members along with a write-up of the band's activities over the past few years.

Volkswagen announces automatic. Better late than never.

The Volkswagen Squareback and the Volkswagen Fastback are now available with a fully automatic transmission.

So now you can drive a Volkswagen and not even know you're driving a Volkswagen.

Except for a few reminders.

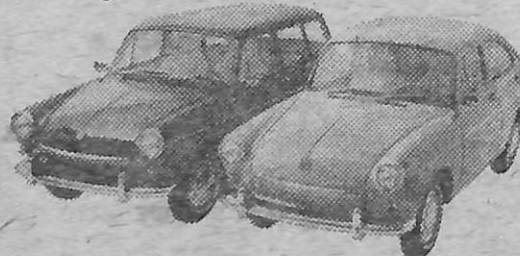

Like the 25 miles you get to a gallon of regular gas. The oil you still take by the pint. And the time and money you don't spend on anti-freeze.

Of course, the new automatic is strictly optional. Just like on most other cars.

But we've got something no other car offers even as an option. Electronic fuel injection.

And it's as standard as the electric clock, electric rear window defroster, 49-position front seats, front disc brakes and wall-to-wall carpeting.

All of which is enough to make you forget it's a Volkswagen all over again.

By ANNA D. BISSONNETTE

V.F.W. MEMORIAL for Those Who Fell by the Way . . .

The OLD WARRIORS who "just fade away" were paid homage during the 69th annual Memorial Service at the National Convention. There were many misty eyes in the auditorium as the ceremonies brought back memories of many tragedies to the veterans of so many hard-fought campaigns.

Thoughts of the war in Vietnam were also brought closer for many of those veterans assembled in Cobo Hall whose sons were serving in that far-off nation. There were many silent prayers offered for both the departed comrades and the young men who now carry that torch of freedom handed to them by those long dead.

The Memorial Address was given by Rear Admiral James W. Kelly, Navy Chief of Chaplains, who told the veterans that "Yours is a personal tribute in this hour. With all strength, then and now, you remain devoted to the cause to which he (your comrade) gave the last measure of his devotion." In praise of the V.F.W. he stated, "There is no assembly anywhere in the land, at this or any other time, to whom such a memorial observance means more."

The Bluejacket Choir from the U. S. Naval Training Center at Great Lakes sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Sleep, Soldier Boy." On the auditorium stage was a simulated cemetery complete with crosses and Stars of David. Wreaths and flowers were placed there by Commander-in-Chief Joseph Scerra, Auxiliary President Ruth Bognacz and other National V.F.W. Officers. These decorations were referred to as "symbols of truth, brotherhood and justice" by Rev. Robert Varner, National Chaplain and former Navy Chaplain.

Invocation was by Rabbi Wolicki and the Benediction by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Hubert Maino. Following the Benediction, the nostalgic "Taps" was played by a member of Post #1146. The colors were then retired and the Gold Star Parents, who sacrificed their most precious possessions . . . their sons, were escorted from the hall. COMRADESHIP LIVES ON IN LIFE AND DEATH. It was never more evident than there in Cobo Hall. REMEMBER THEM NOV. 11.
